FINAL VIEWS FROM THE DESK OF DR ADITYA VIJAY KASHYAP

Global markets are navigating a period characterized by geopolitical uncertainty, technological disruption, evolving monetary policy and structural shifts in capital allocation. India remains comparatively well positioned owing to strong domestic demand, infrastructure development, demographic advantages and accelerating digital adoption. Investors should continue focusing on quality businesses, prudent risk management and long-term value creation rather than short-term market volatility. The convergence of artificial intelligence, manufacturing expansion, energy transition and financial innovation is expected to create substantial opportunities across sectors over the coming decade.
